

From Railroad Station, New Milford, Connecticut, go out of town straight north on Route 129 and follow this five miles by speedometer to end of hard surfaced road. Then follow map on reverse of this page, one mile on dirt road to farm.

Annexed is photo of the house in order that you may recognize the place.

Auto may be left at house in which case walk up hill directly back of house, then bear left. Chestnut trees are in large field over crest of hill northwest of house. Or car may be driven up old road (disused but passable) alongside field where trees are.

In fields near house are ten miscellaneous grafted nut trees from the Hershey Nurseries in Pennsylvania.

F. VOORHEES

If any difficulty in locating trees, telephone IVAN H. EARL, New Milford.