Compendium Program: Anger: Creating New Choices

Gender Specific for:BOTH; RT Program Code: NC

Open Close:True, Session Group:False, Session Numbers: 1, Evidence Based:True

Description:

Cognitive Behavior Therapy (CBT), which explains that human behavior and emotions are caused by one's thoughts, is an Evidence Based Practice. Anger: Creating New Choices video series and workbooks take participants through a reflection of their actions and emotions and how those are influenced by their thoughts, utilizing the CBT Evidence Based Practices.

CBT is based on an educational model on the scientifically supported assumption that most emotional and behavioral reactions are learned. Therefore, the goal of CBT is to help students unlearn their unwanted reactions and to learn a new way of reacting.

The educational emphasis of CBT has an additional benefit – it leads to long term results. When people understand how and why they are doing well, they know what to do to continue doing well.

CBT lessons have a specific agenda for each session with specific techniques/ concepts taught during each session. CBT focuses on the student's goals. Instructors are directive in the sense that they show students how to think and behave in ways to obtain what they want. Therefore, CBT techniques do not tell students what to do – rather, they teach students how to do.

Anger: Creating New Choices videos and workbook utilize the Cognitive Behavior Therapy format, making them an effective part of a rehabilitation program (Simpson, 2004).

Recognizing that individuals receiving behavioral health treatment are more likely to remain engaged in treatment when their basic recovery support needs are met, the Behavioral Health Recovery Program (BHRP) provides financial assistance to HUSKY D/Medicaid for Low Income Adults (LIA) recipients who are temporarily unemployed and in need of recovery supports that cannot be met by other community resources. These supports include recovery housing, independent housing, bus passes, food, clothing, and personal care items. The program also offers coverage for intensive and long-term substance abuse residential treatment, when those services are determined to be medically necessary.

The Department of Mental Health has contracted with ABH as the administrative service organization for the BHRP. ABH reviews and authorizes requests by treatment providers and vendors for the provision of these services. ABH is also responsible for utilization management, claims processing and payment, member services, and provider network management.

Gender Specific for:MALE; RT Program Code: 0

Open Close:True, Session Group:False, Session Numbers: 1, Evidence Based:False

Description:

This is a group designed for inmates in the DOC's Chronic Disciplinary Unit. One of the problems that many inmates have in general, and restrictive housing inmates have in particular, is that they lack the skills necessary for problem solving. The first part of this class is designed to help inmates learn that not all problems can be solved and to assist them in approaching problems so as to (1) respond in the best way to the presented problem and (2) not to make the situation worse. In the second part of the class the inmates review a videotape which shows inmates who have completed a restrictive housing program. In that video the inmates discuss what they believe is necessary in order to "do your bid." The video serves as a stimulus for inmates to discuss how it is possible to live in a prison environment without getting into trouble.

Description:

CHS offers primary and preventive services in Adult Internal Medicine, Adolescent Medicine, Behavioral Health, Dental Care, Optometry, Pediatrics, Podiatry, and Women's Health. The health center also offers specialty services such as its Diabetes Collaborative, a national program which takes a multidisciplinary approach to treatment, and social services such as its Food Pantry which provides food to over eighty families each week, in addition to an on-site pharmacy and laboratory. As part of its program of community outreach, CHS participates in a number of community events each year including health fairs and provides transportation service to and from appointments for patients.

CHS is not a clinic. We are a community health center where you can bring your entire family, and receive the same close, personal care and medical expertise you would expect from a private practice or hospital. CHS is accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations. While the Joint Commission sets the standards for the care in hospitals, accreditation is not required for community health centers. CHS undertook this effort as part of our commitment to excellence in our clinical practices, and providing every patient the quality of care they deserve.

Description:

FIC provides specialized services that strengthen families, enhance community safety, and promote individual responsibility. FIC is one of only a few organizations dedicated to meeting the critical needs of offenders and their families. Families of offenders, especially children with parents who are incarcerated, have special needs. Offenders who rejoin families and reenter communities make a much better adjustment if the family has a "safety net." Family relationships play a significant role in helping offenders rebuild their lives. Experience has taught us that if an offender maintains a positive family and has the skills to be successful within that context, the chances of successful reentry into the community increase and recidivism diminishes.

Our programs and services for offenders and their families are based on documented best practices in the field and are designed to help preserve and strengthen family ties. Families in Crisis understands that without interventions, incarceration becomes a cycle that often repeats itself. In order to significantly improve the lives of our clients, Families in Crisis is committed to meeting the unique needs of families in a comprehensive and holistic fashion.

Fresh Start Community ReEntry Program

This innovative, research-based nonresidential model results in the successful reintegration of formerly-incarcerated persons into their families and communities. Our holistic approach engages and prepares prisoners prior to release, utilizes successful ex-offenders as leaders, role models, and mentors, builds collaborations with stakeholders, and creates positive pro-social networks in the community. The results are: productive, tax-paying citizens, stronger families and communities, increased public safety, reduced costs to taxpayers, and improved quality of life in the region and across the state. Yale University research has observed that Fresh Start programs have reduced recidivism in Connecticut. Gender-specific programming is provided for women in collaboration with our partner agency, The Center for Women and Families of Eastern Fairfield County.

Inmate volunteers are important as they share the experience of being incarcerated and can relate to its challenge.

Compendium Program: Love in Action Prayer Group

Gender Specific for:MALE; RT Program Code: 0

Open Close:True, Session Group:False, Session Numbers: 1, Evidence Based:False

Description:

This is a monthly Catholic program and the group has chosen the title "Love in Action" for several reasons. God put his love in Action by sending his Son Jesus Christ into the world so that we could be saved from our sins. The Holy Spirit put His Love in Action by raising Jesus from the dead so that we can have eternal life. As their goal, the volunteers want to share God's holy love and mercy with those in prison.

The program involves weekly Scripture readings from the Old and New Testament. As a guide, a reflection booklet for Small Christian Communities is used which contains Reflection and Discussion questions dealing with the Bible readings from the Catholic Sunday Mass. Questions are addressed to the group and the men share how the readings have touched them and can help them become a better Catholic. The program concludes with a closing hymn and prayer. The Love in Action group meets for one hour every second Tuesday of the month after Catholic Mass.

Debate classes pair lessons about argumentation and logical reasoning with discussions of contemporary civic and political issues. Lesson goals are delineated for novice, intermediate, and advanced students, and we work hard to keep the RDP volunteer- student ratio small.

Participants of this rehabilitative workshop class, writing mostly about their lives, read their first drafts and receive useful feedback about what is working successfully and what they might add, cut, clarify, or reposition to make the writing more effective. Students learn that the best writing emerges from revision and that the process of reworking their prose is an opportunity to reclaim their pasts and stand in the truths that are revealed. Time plus consistent effort has resulted in tremendous growth for many of the women in our program, both in terms of their writing and critiquing skills and their ability to reflect deeply about their lives and invest in their rehabilitation
